

HEALTH & SAFETY POLICY

This Policy is supported by Lloyds Employment Law Consultancy Ltd acting in an advisory capacity and audited to ensure Steatite Ltd (Steatite) complies with Health and Safety Regulation.

It is the policy of Steatite to safeguard the Health, Safety and Welfare of our employees, our customers, the public and others that may be affected by our activities. We are committed to meet with our statutory duties set out in the Health and Safety at Work Act 1974 and associated Regulations.

Health and Safety will be treated as an integral part of our day-to-day activities and so far as is reasonably practicable will undertake to ensure:

- Adequate resources are allocated, for the effective implementation of the Health and Safety policy.
- Competent professional advice and guidance is readily available.
- The working environment is safe and without risk to health.
- Safe equipment is provided for use and maintained in good working order.
- Adequate information, instruction and training is provided to ensure the health, safety and welfare of employees at work.
- Effective communication is maintained with our employees, customers and business partners.
- All reasonable practicable action to prevent injuries and cases of work-related ill health is taken

As Managing Director of Steatite I expect everyone within the company to observe the principles set out within this policy.

It is the duty of all employees to co-operate in the implementation and fulfilment of this policy. All employees shall carry out their duties in a safe and responsible manner, so as to prevent injury or harm to themselves and others that may be affected by their undertaking.

Sincerely,

Matthew Richards
Managing Director
